01 THE HOOK

“Monday: ‘This week I'm eating better.’ Friday: takeout on the couch. Sound familiar?”

ALTERNATE HOOKS · SAME VIDEO, TEST THE FIRST 3 SECONDS

“If every Monday feels like starting over, this is for you.”
“Sunday night: ‘Tomorrow I start.’ We've all been there.”
“Almost every client I coach started exactly here.”

02 CORE MESSAGE

Monday you're all in. Wednesday a late meeting hits. Friday it's takeout, and Sunday night it's “I'll start again Monday.”

If that's your week, you're not lazy and you're not alone. Almost every person I coach started right there.

I'm Nate, and I coach people whose calendars run their lives, here in Tampa.

With the Flex Week Method, we stop planning for the perfect week. We plan for Wednesday's late meeting and Friday's takeout, so one rough day never turns into starting over.

Every week we check in and adjust. You're never figuring it out alone.

A client said it best: “Nate was the first coach who made me feel understood, not judged. The accountability changed everything.”

It worked for three weeks, because it was built for a perfect week. Nobody I coach has one.

Then a work dinner, a birthday, a busy Tuesday... and you're back to square one.

It's not you. It's what you were handed.

I'm Nate, and I coach people whose calendars run their lives, here in Tampa.

With the Flex Week Method, nothing is off the table: we start with the food you already eat, adjust every week, and when the week falls apart, you're not figuring it out alone.

In a client's words: “Best coach I've ever had. For the first time, I didn't quit. The accountability made it stick.”
